Did you inherit your grandmother's old quilt that is falling apart? Or her fragile wedding dress or nightgown? Many of us have heirlooms that we can't bear to throw away. Why not turn them into a beautiful piece of mixed media art that your family will treasure?

Cindy Meier, artist and high school art teacher, will show you how to create an original canvas as a lasting memory of a loved one. For this class, you will need a photocopy (about 5x7" or 6x8") of an old photo of the loved one, plus a piece of clothing, quilt or other fabric.

Other finishing touches could include a letter, newspaper article, piece of jewelry or another memento. Cindy can guide your creativity if needed. She will supply paint brushes, Mod Podge, and canvas.
